The muse

The Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, Act 108 of 1996, Chapter 2, Bill of Rights, sub-sections 7-39 provides for the importance of human life values in our society. Some of the constitutional rights are being violated on daily basis during policing.

The founder of the company has taken a decision to commit to remind and re-educate our society on the need and importance of “Human Police Policing Human” in partnership with clients.

The company is a vehicle that will be used to gather intelligence through research, research assistant services, awareness campaigns and personalised workshops, depending on the clients criminal activity sphere within our society because “we are in this together”.

Why the name?

The name of the company is meant to remind our society of who we are, and below are definitions according to the founder’s opinion to help us understand the muse for the name of the company.

“Human Police” is someone’s daughter, son, father, mother, friend, relative, colleague, husband, wife, neighbour, brother, sister, grandmother, grandfather, community member, the list can go on, who made a decision to join and become a member to protect and serve within the country under prescribed legislation, with or without remuneration.

“Policing Human” is a professional act, duty, commitment made by “Human Police” to basically protect and serve society within the country under prescribed legislation. It can also take place without knowledge, how we live our everyday lives.

POST OUTREACH STATISTICS

Post review

Human Police Policing Human (Pty) Ltd main services are to gather intelligence through research, research assistant services, awareness campaigns and personalised workshops. We have been instilling education for the purpose of daily due-care, on the importance of knowing and respecting universal human rights by creating awareness based on the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, Act 108 of 1996, Chapter 2, Bill of Rights, sub-sections 7-39. The vitality of knowing and respecting universal human rights can influence human society in creating harmony and safety amongst communities. The impact of knowledge creates an understanding of right and wrong. We have created and posted 14 posts from 1 April 2017 to 31 March 2018.

Perspective on ten lowest viewed posts

The posts displayed in the left hand diagram were viewed by society and possible read through. The lowest percentages was not drawn to issues related to the Caring about your world and educating family. However, we are still very happy for the engagements.

Our opinion

We are aware that knowledge is power and has the ability to inject understanding of issues surrounding our daily lives. Crime being some of the issues society is creaming about, we believe that society is aware that it must be fought in partnership between the police and the community. Therefore Human Police Policing Human (Pty) Ltd will continue to educate society on the need for policing for all, gather intelligence on the need to know crime and policing related issues to the Republic of South Africa.
