Is corruption “thee” new strategy for success in South Africa? Yes, Maybe or No ©

Hands Up:

Who wants to sleep and wake up devising corrupt ideas to get ahead?

---

In the underground but public South Africa, there are human beings, who make the corruption lifestyle desirable to the public. It is obvious that, no normal human being can raise their hands for us to see, that this is, what they truly plan on daily basis to get ahead.

Corruption is not “thee” strategy for success but a human trap to serve as a pawn to disadvantage other human beings and their true potential to action idea for success. The true deed of corruption can be compared to the well-known talks such as “selling your soul to the devil”. Once you have done this, there is no going back. You lose your sleep, you gain paranoia, and you lose your chance for living in peace. But for those who thrive through corruption, they do not sleep, they increase manpower or recruit man soldiers to protect them and pretend to live a desirable protected lifestyle. So, now, here is the truth. There is no need to fall for corruption trap to get ahead.

Here are the reasons why:

- Every individual is born unique. Every human being is born with a natural talent.
- No one is for sale. No human must own another.
- Money is an illusion, which can be used by human beings to destroy another. Imagine, destroying someone else’s life through corruption for a piece of paper, its not worth it.
- So now, what do you want to be? Your self or a pawn to get ahead?
- Corruption does not make one successful but feel empty. Release your true potential and let people learn from your success through your true ideas.
