The Era of Propaganda©

True or False?

Red flag: Can you recognize deceitful information in the media news broadcast, especially designed to evoke your emotional stress?

Can you identify the person on the painting below? If this person was to come to you as he or she is, & tell you a story that gets you stressed, worked up & miserable the whole day, tomorrow morning & the whole week, would you be able to tell other people their identity? You will explain yourself until you tire. Eventually you will not be sure of other descriptions such as the colors, shapes which you see here on this painting below.

The person you are trying to tell the story to, will want to know your source, if you don't tell, you will be left as if you made up the story or it can be assumed that this person simply does not exist, & you made it all up. Propaganda is an extreme design of misinformation to disrupt humanity within their orderly personal goals. Most people today are fed with misleading information which evoke emotional stress which turn to influence people to do physical harm to either themselves or other people. The person who decided to disclose the information had intentions to produce such outcomes & knew that it will be damning to the receiver, or something is got to give. Some of the information is meant to deviate people's attention from their normal lives to focus on issues which serves no purpose in their personal lives. Hence you find people spending their time on social media platforms discussing issues which never brings them peace, put bread on the table, brings them income or any other relief from their normal day challenges. It takes time from doing what he or she really needs to focus on the not important & unnecessary orderly of the day. Propagators of propagandas are the most inhumane people who exist amongst humans born to thrive. They have lost their title of being humans to simply being called "whatever-you-call-them-in-your-private-time". Its those we don't speak of, or your family will be in danger. Things like that. Now, to all human beings who have being given a gift of being alive, give it your 100% focus on daily basis. Listening to non-sense news in your normal life will stress you to death & only your family will suffer. Dedicate your time to positive news, it brings peace of mind, non-violent thoughts, creativity & good character building. Not all news is good for your sanity.
